At San Francisco

(By Annie Laurie, in San Francisco Examiner, July 3.)

Wine, women and Bryan—these are the three things that stand out in the memory of the tumultuous day at the convention yesterday—as the electric cross over old St. Mary's stands out against the black sky over Chinatown on a night when the moon has forgotten to shine.

Alas, poor Ireland! There wasn't time or room or heart or disposition in all that great crowd yesterday to pay her sorrows the passing tribute of a sigh.

There wasn't even a crocodile tear to be shed for "My Dark Rosaleen"—though there were three not uninteresting speeches made on the Irish question—but nobody listened to them even to disapprove.

The return soldiers and their troubles were no concern of the convention. Two overseas men tried in turn to interest the delegates and their friends for just five minutes each—but the gathering was plainly bored by the very word soldier.

Wine was represented rather appropriately by that rich and sparkling personality which we call in the human way, Bourke Cockran of New York.

WOMEN ASK FREELY

Women—if there's a thing the women of the United States have to ask from the Democratic party—they just forgot to ask it, that's all.

What was the old rhyme about the old lady who went for a ride on the back of the tiger—she went for a ride, but she came back inside and smile on the face of the tiger.

Only this time it is the tiger who is swallowed and the lady who smiles.

Child labor, educational plank, American citizenship for American women married to foreign men, equal representation for women on all important commissions—there they were as big as life and fully three times as natural every one of the important planks mothered by the national league of women voters and favored and boosted at this convention by the women's executive committee.

When the platform was read and Mr. Glass, the reader of it, a spare little man who looks like Ichobod Crane, only not so tall and a little more humorous, got to the suffrage plank the whole convention took a long breath and sat forward on the edges of its chair.

MRS. BASS WAR DANCES

You could have heard not only a pin but a pinlet drop—when the suffrage plank was through in its reading—Mrs. George Bass threw her handkerchief in the air and started a perfectly decorous, but none the less joyous, war dance on the very edge of the platform.

Beautiful and high-bred Mrs. Park, of Boston and Washington, flushed scarlet and then paled to the color of ivory. I think there were tears in her eyes.

Mrs. Ellis Meredith, the Colorado woman who has been fighting for suffrage for most of her life, clasped and unclasped her hands in a fever of excited something that was almost like incredulity.

Up in the gallery Mrs. Harrison clapped her hands like a little girl at her first party, and all the women in the auditorium cheered tremendously and with terrific emotion.

The men cheered, too—not all of them, but most of them. What a great thing party loyalty is. The

What Is Nuxated Iron?

Physician Explains—Says Public Ought To Know What They Are Taking—Practical Advice on What To Do To Build Up Your Strength, Power and Endurance and Increase the Red Blood Corpuscles.

The fact that Nuxated Iron is today being used by over four million people annually and that so many physicians are prescribing it as a tonic, strength and blood builder in weak, nervous run-down conditions has led to an investigation of its merits by designated physicians and others whose reports should be of great importance, to the public generally. Among these is the statement made by Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.) New York, and Westchester County Hospital, who says: "When one patient after another began asking my opinion of Nuxated Iron, I resolved to go thoroughly into the subject and find out the real value claimed by its manufacturers and attested to by so many prominent people. This is exactly what I believe every honest, conscientious physician should do before prescribing or lending his endorsement to any product whatsoever. If an article is worthless we practitioners ought to be the first to know of it and if it is efficacious we are in duty bound to recommend it for the welfare of our patients. A study of the composition of the Nuxated Iron formula so impressed me with the therapeutic efficacy of the product that I immediately tested it in a number of obstinate cases. So quickly did it increase the strength, energy and endurance of the patients to whom it was administered that I became firmly convinced of its remarkable value as a tonic and blood builder. I have since taken it myself with excellent results. There are thousands of delicate, nervous, run-down folks who need just such a preparation as this but do not know what to take. Therefore I have urgently suggested the widespread publication of the sworn statement of the composition of its formula so that the public many know what they are taking. This complete formula is now to be found in newspapers throughout the country. It is composed principally of organic iron in the form of iron peptonate of a special specific standard and glycerophosphates which is one of the most costly tonic ingredients known. To the credit of the manufacturers it may be said that they use the most expensive form of iron peptonate, whereas by employing other makes they could have put the same quantity of actual iron in the tablets at less than one-fourth the cost and by using metallic iron they could have reduced the cost to less than one-twelfth, but by thus cheapening the product they would undoubtedly have impaired its therapeutic efficacy. In my opinion a careful examination of this formula by any physician or pharmacist should convince him that Nuxated Iron is to be placed among the very highest class and most strictly ethical preparations known to medical science. It excels anything I have ever used for building up the system and increasing the red blood corpuscles thereby enriching and fortifying the blood against the ravages of disease."

Creating an Estate

All are striving to create an estate. When death comes, if there is no insurance, a forced sale of the property often causes a large loss, whereas, the proceeds from a life insurance policy will furnish ready money for the immediate needs and the executors of the estate can have time to dispose of the property to the best advantage.

The cash value of a man's life to his family, if he earns but $1,000 a year, at age thirty-five is over $14,000. No man would go without fire insurance on that amount of property and yet if he carries no life insurance, he is forcing his family to carry a risk for this amount unprotected. Why not transfer this risk from the family to
